Of it wouldn't have been for Joe and Dennis
I don't think we woulda ever of been this close. We've had so many good times, how about all them 14-teen meetings we went to.
Like our all night work meetings, we didn't do one thing. It's one great memory you better never forget 14-teen's night, remember how all the times Joe and Dennis would be talking and we'd be sitting there - how about up the top of the m... after. I didn't want to eat, so me you Beth Patu and Carolyn all went in the bathroom and we sat in there for about 15 minutes. Remember when we went to Nancy's party and the next day me and Dennis told Mr. Rosa that we made Patu and Clay walk home and he believed us. Remember all the times me you Joe and Dennis would go out and the time we got stuck in all that mud and I had to get us out!
Then Dennis and Joe's pants and shirts were all muddy from the wheels spinning. Remember the time you me you Joe and Dennis went out and Joe got "Caught". That was ~~so~~ so funny! Remember all the dances we went to with them guys? Remember all the times when Joe and Dennis were with their friends and we'd try to do something so that we wouldn't be sittin' home and we would always get bummed out cuz we would wonder if they were with other girls.

We will arrange the pieces
That shape our future days;
We hope someday they'll work for us,
As we go our separate ways.

A new day arrives and we have to make Decisions in what we do.
We'll depend on our learning to avoid a mistake;
We can make our dream come true.

For we have the knowledge and ability
To form and shape the mold
Which designs our final destiny
That within our minds we hold.

As a new day arrives and conflicts arise;
It is time for us to make Decisions which help form our lives.
Our future is at stake.

- Carole Bower
- Mary Jannel Seidel

As we hold the book of our high school years,
The memories come to focus in our minds
About times we shared together;
As the class of 1979.

Those school days form an important part
Of the kaleidoscope of our dreams.
Those fantasies intersect with reality
To create our lifetime scheme.

STUDENT LIFE

Popular craze hits Lincoln

T-shirts were a popular fashion trend this past year at Lincoln. Students wore a variety of t-shirts. A little of each student's personality was expressed by his t-shirt. Several of the t-shirts were of favorite football teams and various colleges. Others consisted of hobbies, rock groups, and popular people. The most common t-shirts that were worn were ones with sayings and funny pictures which brought many smiles to the students' faces.

Come, travel around world

With the help of Buck Jones and Martha Everhart as prom co-chairmen, many different lands were displayed as the theme of Around the World in 80 Days came to life. In their journey through the commons, the couples had their pictures taken in an African jungle. As they traveled up the Chinatown ramp, they were greeted by a Chinese girl handing out flowers from her rickshaw. The couples then journeyed into the land of ruins, Rome. From Rome they walked through the streets of Londontown, where the air was filled with the music of Coconut. At the After-Prom, Sweet Breeze provided the entertainment.

Color speaks all languages

Colors have stood for different feelings for as long as time will tell. Anger is usually created by lack of satisfaction and is often represented by the color red. Purple signifies the powers of royalty which truly reflects this year's homecoming queen. Indicating the powerful word love is the incandescent color, white. In many cases yellow has been used for the feeling of fear. Green refers to the indispensable trait of jealousy, which seems to play a major part in the lives of many students. "You'll get over it" is a popular phrase attributed for the blues. Orange brings out the happiness displayed by everyone.

Latest Lincoln fashions shown

The trends took a sudden turn at Lincoln. Pant legs have narrowed and skirts have become even longer. Students hung their old jeans away and brought out their fashionable selves. Girls' fashions were more masculine. Ties and suits were worn by many. Boys' hair was shortened, Joe DeRosa grew a mustache, and Terry Jones shaved! Each student had his own individual mode of dressing.

Students show pride for team

Friday mornings brought excitement to everyone's eyes for the weekend. But for every home game the students had a special reason for their feelings. On those mornings there was a Pep Rally, a time to express spirit and show the team that the students stand behind them. On Thursday night November 2, Key Club held its annual bonfire. Many students attended to show the team that Lincoln students have special pride in the Mighty Wolf LEADER

Famous persons entertain all

Have you ever wished you were a famous comedian or singer? Well, Steve Martin started out as a nightclub comedian and ended up as the wildest and craziest guy around. Take for instance Neil Young, or the 'Piano Man' himself, Billy Joel. In such a short time they became two of the best known singers of today. How about Gilda Radner of Saturday Night Live? Who would have thought she would become Roseanne Roseannadanna, the best known news woman on late night television. Then there's always Animal House's John Belushi, who can only speak for himself. Maybe someday with a little luck, your dream of becoming famous will come true.

Students select lifetime career

Doctors, lawyers and housewives were just a few of the many careers chosen by students this year. Some were much different. Karen Jones never looked like the next Columbo, but an undercover agent was her chosen profession. Somehow Don Bunney and Bob Herko seemed more likely to be on the couch answering the questions than to be the psychiatrists asking the questions. Rose Parente has chosen to become a registered nurse, while Elaine Amadio sits calmly behind her desk tending to her secretarial duties. And Nancy Zato will be found in a department store selling the latest fashions. Everyone picked a career to suit them and their only wish is to succeed.

Seniors exceed previous record

Once there was a salesman from the senior class, he tried to sell his magazines so he could win a prize. Then one day he left his house to try to reach his goal. He came back with enough money to reach his super goal.

If you sell your magazines and sell your quota, too, we can reach our super goal and may be over, too. But if you do not do your job, we'll never reach our goal. The price of the Ellwoodian will be out of control.

So get on out and do your job and we'll be proud of you. And the total of your sales will tell us if you're true. The book is filled with fun and facts that tells our story here. So get on out and do your job to make this the best year — hey!

True identities finally emerge

On March 30, one of the days most looked forward to had finally arrived. The only day when the seniors could really be themselves and act as crazy as possible. Who would ever think that two respectable girls actually came to school, dressed like Playboy Bunnies? The one thing the senior class was noted for, by many, was their unique imaginations for coming up with some of the uncanniest costumes imaginable.

Candidates come to Lincoln High

On November 1, a number of the candidates of the 1978 Congressional election visited Lincoln High School. Joe Lockley, Ralph Pratt, Gene Atkinson, John Cook, and Mrs. Richard Thornburgh participated in an assembly to express their political views. They strongly stressed the idea of voting at eighteen upon the students. Junior and Senior High Student Council sponsored a mock election for the students on the following day. After hearing the candidates' views, they were able to vote for candidates of their choice. This enabled the students to learn more about politics and the voting process. Surprisingly, the results of our mock election were almost the same as the real one.

Students view various talents

Disliked 5th and 6th periods were relieved by entertaining assemblies. Our first assembly dealt with some very unusual audience participation — students and teachers alike. This show of reptiles and snakes illustrated how domestic snakes can be. The Slippers Rock Dance Toot Group also presented a very enjoyable show. One of the student teachers, Miss Jaskola, was a member of this group. The students learned that dance was a part of everyday life.

"I hope we never lose sight of one fact . . . that this was all started by a mouse." — Walt Disney

Fifty years ago, a Kansas City artist drew a new animated cartoon — a mouse. That mouse formed a basis for a multi-million dollar empire and brought joy and laughter to millions of people. Minnie Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto, and Goofy, are also good friends of this popular little mouse and are seen with him in many of his movies. Fifty years seems like a long time ago, but to Mickey it's just like yesterday.

Special evening brings memories

On Saturday evening, October 28, 1978, the annual Junior Miss Pageant, sponsored by the New Castle Jaycees, was held in the auditorium of Lincoln High School. Eighteen girls representing surrounding high schools participated in the pageant. Lincoln High School was proudly represented by Pam Wrona. She entertained the audience as she did a song routine to "Honey Bun" from the musical South Pacific. Lincoln was proud of Pam's outstanding performance.

Students reveal their interests

Many students passed their time away with hobbies. Collecting things, such as matchbooks, beer cans, and articles from restaurants, were among the favorites. Various sports were main interests. Tennis became very popular. The skiing and jogging craze swept Lincoln High School. Various talented people indulged in photography, singing, playing a musical instrument, or painting. Besides their friends, their extra-curricular activities, and their studies, the well-rounded students at Lincoln found time for hobbies.

Reversed roles brought change

When Mrs. Gorgas addressed her cooking classes as boys, some people had to take a second look. But things were the same downstairs in shop when Mr. Wallis taught girls the technique of how to change a tire. These were not the only changes. Some boys learned the skill of sewing, while a certain student took over Miss Ottobre's job of teaching. Girls took over the weight room, and for powder puff the boys stood on the sidelines as cheerleaders. Many roles were reversed but the most important role reversed was the role of the clowns who changed into adults and received the paper that changed their lives

Nicknames show our inner-selves

Have you ever wondered how nicknames come to be? Sometimes they seem to reveal the true inner-self of the person named. Take for instance, lanky Kevin Amadio. Deep down inside he wishes he could be strong and muscular like Pumpin' Iron himself, Arnold Swartznegger. Debby Maletta can be herself one minute and suddenly turn into crazy Eunice, pulling some of the weirdest stunts, the next. Nicknames really do expose the unknown personality.

Students enjoy foreign customs

This past summer two Lincoln students were chosen to travel abroad. Carole Bowser traveled to Darwin, Australia and Pam Wrona went to Braganca Paulista, Brazil. Both girls enjoyed the summer participating in many activities and attending school. While Carole and Pam were still away, Geeske "Grace" van der Grint arrived in Ellwood. She traveled from Holland to take part in life at Lincoln. While here, she made her home with the Joseph Tomons.

Pupils prepare for destination

School days are the best times of your life. You may not think so now, but when it comes time to graduate, you will think twice about wishing you were out of school. Sure, some of your classes may not be the easiest, but how are you going to learn anything "gooling off" all the time? Just remember one thing — school is only as good as you, yourself, make it

ACTIVITY 120

Music + talent, our Senior Band

Under the direction of Mr. Egan, the Senior High Band worked hard for a successful year. A field trip to Kennwood Park marked the beginning of Band Camp. For the last two weeks of August, members rehearsed half time shows at Limestone Park. Band members continued to improve their skills by practicing every Tuesday and Thursday night during football season. At the beginning of October, the Senior High Band displayed their talents along with other schools during the Band Festival at Geneva College. In order to raise money for raincoats, members sold candles before Christmas time. Throughout the year, band members proved to be devoted and hard-working.

Junior players combine talents

Hidden talent emerged as the Junior High Band learned how to play and perform music. Students were exposed to various types of music including classical, modern, pop and rock.

Concerts presented in the winter and spring served to please the public and also give valuable playing experience in front of an audience. Junior High Band also participates in school activities by playing at Junior High pep rallies and games. At the end of the year a banquet rewarded the students for their effort and dedication.

Throughout the 78-79 school year, the band practiced hard in hopes that perfection could be attained.

Girls move out, march with ease

After hours of practice, the Lincoln High School Drill Team led the Blue Band through football games and parades. Debbie O'Connor and Chris Geniviva were chosen as co-captains. These two girls led the Drill Team members through new marches and routines during the two weeks of Band Camp in August. At the Band Banquet on November 30, the Drill Team was given special recognition. Two year members received letters and three-year members chose between a blanket or a jacket. After the last football game of the season, the girls topped off an active year by having their own dinner. At this dinner, senior members each received a charm.

Majorettes add beauty to games

With the help of head majorette Barb Pope, the majorettes strived for perfection. During summer band camp, the girls spent many long, hard hours practicing their routines. The Majorettes added color and life to Lincoln's pep rallies and football games by performing these new drills where all could see. Candles were sold and bake sales held to help raise money so the girls could go to Majorette Camp. They also marched at a number of parades in the surrounding area. Never once did they complain because of the frigid weather. Throughout the year, the majorettes truly succeeded in maintaining the perfection they had strived for.

Great singers? Why, of chorus!

Whether it be soft, flowing voices or loud, vibrating sounds, everyone seems to enjoy the beautiful music of a choir. At Lincoln, our school is fortunate to have a Junior High Choir. These students, ranging from seventh grade to ninth grade, practice various song pieces from Broadway musicals to modern pop rock and then present concerts to the public twice a year. The choirs practice many weeks in advance to deliver the song with clear articulation. Often a member from the various choirs is asked to perform a solo. The Junior High Choir prepares the student for performances in senior high.

Under the direction of Mrs. Sandy Ialongo, the Concert Choir performed various concerts throughout the year. Again the choir sang at halftime for the Homecoming game against Farrell. Singing the backup music for the Junior Miss Pageant this year, the choir performed "What I Did For Love," from "A Chorus Line." As always, they had many singing engagements during Christmas time, and went Christmas caroling to raise money. Selling calendars and acrylies were their main money making projects for their spring tour to New York City. With much cooperation from the students, and with the help of Mrs. Ialongo, Concert Choir contributed much to the harmony at Lincoln

Voices combine to form harmony

The Senior Girls' Chorale worked diligently in preparation for their performances in the concerts. Under the instruction of their director, Mrs. Sandy Lalongo, the girls learned singing techniques and skills that improved the quality and sounds of their voices.

Girls' Chorale is comprised of three-part harmony containing the following voice parts: Soprano I, Soprano II, and Alto I. At the end of the school year, Mrs. Lalongo held auditions for all interested senior high girls. She selected individuals she felt would work with others, were truly interested in participating, could harmonize with others, and would sacrifice some of their time for practices.

Members acquire French traits

Learning French customs and traditions was the main goal of Lincoln High's French Club. Under the guidance of Mr. Robert Galvin, members had an active year. The club engaged in many activities. Among them was the annual Mardi Gras which was held on Shrove Tuesday, the last day before Lent. With the help of President, Heidi Borter, members strived to make this celebration a success. Several bake sales were held to raise money for the club treasury. In addition to learning about French customs, members acquired knowledge about French food, clothing and cities. All French club members experienced fun along with learning this year.

Members of club promote customs

Under the direction and guidance of Miss Virginia Ottobre, the Lincoln High Latin Club had an active year. Members broke the long tradition of dressing up as slaves. Instead, members gathered in the Faculty Dining Room for a banquet. This served as their initiation. Many money making projects were held. These included several bake sales. Members also sponsored a school dance. In keeping with the Christmas spirit, members held a Christmas party which included a gift exchange. With the help of the officers, members collected money to give to McGuire Home and several other organizations. Latin Club truly had an exciting and prosperous year.

Students learn Spanish customs

The Spanish Club has accomplished many things this year. They started off the year with the election of officers. With the club's new leadership, they planned many events: a Christmas party, Cultural music, and a movie at the end of the year for the public. During the year they had their annual Tureen Dinner. At this dinner, club members experienced many new types of Mexican food. Throughout the year, culture and learning of the country was experienced by club members. As the year ended, the Spanish Club made new traditions for members of years to come. The sponsor, Mrs. Panico, had many happy memories from the 78-79 Spanish Club.

Talented people create Art Club

The keys which opened the door to membership in the Lincoln High Art club were talent and skill. This year, under the supervision of Miss Linda Miskoleze, the club was busier than ever. Members broke the long tradition of "slave day" by replacing it with a formal initiation. The new artists consisted of students in grades ten, eleven, and twelve who showed considerable talent in the drawing of a still life. The annual painting of merchants' windows and the selling of jewelry were two of the many activities in which Art Club participated. By belonging to Lincoln High Art Club, members received the incentive needed to bring out their artistic talent.

Bowlers compete for first place

Each Saturday morning beginning at 9 a.m., approximately one hundred students sacrificed their sleeping hours to be at Park Lanes. These dedicated boys and girls participated in the Lincoln High Bowling Club. Mr. Eugene Boschini served as sponsor with officers Terry Hissem, Roger Stinson and Phyllis Buano helping him. Many tournaments which consisted of doubles and singles highlighted the year. There were also low bowl tournaments and other special events. Less skilled members received handicaps in order to compete on the same level as the others. On the whole, Bowling Club offers a challenging experience to energetic students who want to compete against fellow bowlers at Lincoln.

Girls prepare for future jobs

Preparing for future careers was the main goal of the Lincoln High Business Club. Members developed many useful secretarial traits by aiding both teachers and businesses. Under the leadership of Miss Virginia Ottobre, club members had fun along with their work. A Halloween Party marked the beginning of the year. Members stuffed themselves at the annual tureen dinner held before Thanksgiving. Members also went to Robert Morris College to observe the secretarial offices. Reese's cups were sold to obtain money to buy jackets for senior members. As a reward for their hard work, members went to Montroeville Mall for a shopping trip.

Cheers arouse junior spirit

In order to develop spirit in students, the J.V. and the Junior High Cheerleaders worked harder than ever before. Over the summer, the Junior High held three window washes to raise money. The money was used to buy the cheerleaders sweaters. New pom poms were also bought from this money. From the end of August to the beginning of school, the Junior High and J.V. Cheerleaders attended camp with the Varsity Cheerleaders at Fwing Park. At camp, the girls learned new cheers and skills. During the basketball and football seasons, the girls made tags for each player and manager. With Miss Kosanovich's and Miss Marino's guidance, the Junior High and J.V. Cheerleaders boosted the students' morale.

Girls show pep with enthusiasm

Throughout the year, the Varsity Cheerleaders proved to be the backbone of Lincoln's spirit. Over the summer the girls spent four days at Robert Morris College. During their stay, the Varsity Cheerleaders competed against twenty-five other squads. They won three Blue Ribbons and out of five first-place plaques, the Varsity Cheerleaders won one. For the first and last football game of the season, the girls painted an individual sign for each player and manager. The Varsity Cheerleaders also took the responsibility of sorting and passing out Homecoming Mums. The girls worked long and hard to build spirit to boost the morale of Lincoln.

Chessmen strive for perfection

Improving their skills, was the main goal of Lincoln's Chess Club. These members strived to find new ways to outwit their opponents. Many of the members who are in both junior and senior high prepared for tournaments. However, with the cessation of the activity period, there was not much time for practice. Some members came in during the fifth period, while others sacrificed their homeroom period. With the help of Mr. Timothy Stuart, sponsor, Chess Club members achieved the patience and ability needed to overcome their obstacles. Both smiles and frowns were present when members engaged in practice. But, either way members enjoyed the fun.

Members grow in computer field

Through computer club members learned how to operate and improve computers. The club under the direction of Mr. Reed Brown, participated in many worthwhile activities. On Sunday, November 5, members travelled to the Pittsburgh Area Computer Club. This meeting was for anyone who owned a computer, and members learned much from the exhibits. This year the club received a new P-I-I Computer. This computer has a TV screen readout which can be three dimensional. With meetings held every other Monday, the students have a chance to use the new computer quite often. By learning the basic language for the new computer members can write different programs.

Performers show juniors talents

A learning experience, a chance to entertain others, a chance to prove yourself to all. All of these experiences sum up the opportunities offered to students in the junior high. Junior Dramatics is an extra curricular activity which gives students in ninth and tenth grades an opportunity to perform for faculty, other students, parents, and residents of this area.

An annual event for the dramatics club is presenting a play in the spring. The selection for this year's play was "Pillow Talk." After the long rehearsals were over and the play had been presented, the cast members were rewarded by attending a cast party.

Persons wishing to be members were placed in groups of two or three and prepared short skits. The club continued to meet once a month in order to develop their acting skills.

During February, the play "Sabrina Fair" was performed. Members formed committees such as publicity and ticket sales in order to prepare for the play. Saturday and after school practices were held in order to make the play successful.

Actors provide dramatic plays

Are you interested in making people laugh? The Dramatics Class at Lincoln High School did by presenting a play to elementary children from the Ellwood City Area School District. This year they entertained the children by putting on the play, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The play, directed by Mrs. Wetmur, had a cast consisting of Amy Ruhe as Snow White; Tom Milnes as the king and Kathy Kushner as the wicked witch. The class also enjoyed taking turns presenting pantomime and group plays. As a result of their hard work and dedication, the class was a success.

The Echo Staff at Lincoln High School provides the faculty members and students with an update of the current news and sporting events.

Under the direction of Mrs. Lori Sutton, the staff strived to fill the school newspaper with interesting and enjoyable articles to read. Along with features and sporting news, the Echo Staff created a review page which featured one of the top movies of the month. On this page, stories were written by various students and pictures dealing with the movies were printed. The long standing tradition of selecting one editor was broken and replaced by selecting a new editor for each publication.

Workers perform library duties

Approximately thirty students in both junior and senior high were responsible for the Lincoln library. Student worked hard to keep the library running efficiently. Many problems were encountered, but all were overcome. Various magazines and other reference materials along with books had to be kept in order so that students could find them with ease. The library with its large collection of audio-visual aids also had to be kept in order. With the help of Mr. Nick Panico the job went smoothly. Some students gave up their only study hall to be one of the L.M.C. workers, but all of these students were dedicated.

Key Club is the school level counterpart of the Kiwanis Club International. The club aided in community affairs by conducting a drive for a local charity. Working in the concession stands at basketball games was also a member's duty. On November 2 Key Club held a bonfire prior to the last home football game. Under the direction and guidance of Mrs. Marion LaRitz, the National Honor Society enjoyed an active year. Members volunteered their time and effort to work in the concession stand at home football games. For Parents' Night, N.H.S. members ushered wandering parents to their classes. Students who needed help with various subjects received aide from cooperative N.H.S. members. The annual tea, held for the A.F.S. students was a huge success, thanks to the hard work of the club's members. N.H.S. fulfilled their duties by helping with the 1979 graduation ceremonies. Members donate time and effort

Under the direction of Mrs. Cheryl Franus, the Pennsylvania Youth Education Association participated in many activities. Members volunteered to work in the concession stand for home football games. During the month of December, the members spent much of their precious time practicing skits. These skits were performed at several elementary schools in the surrounding area. Members also acted as aides for the elementary teachers at Hartman School. These students generously gave up their study halls in order to do this. But, the hard work paid off. This year, the Varsity Club started their season off with new sponsors, Miss Smith and Mr. Acotto. The members came up with many ideas. The club started a book store where the students and faculty purchased items such as shirts, shorts, jackets, books, and other school accessories. Also during the year the Annual Powder Puff Game was sponsored by the Varsity Club. In this game the seniors and juniors battled it out to see which class is really No. 1. During half time the sophomores and freshmen played and the game ended in a tie. This year's Varsity Club ended its year with many accomplishments.

Dance in heaven with your date

In September, Y-teens held their first organizational meeting. New members gathered in the cafeteria for their initiation. Under the guidance of Miss Schenker and Mrs. Pander, the club participated in many new and interesting projects. Club members sold candy and helped at bake sales in order to raise money for their annual Y-teens dance. Candyland was this year's theme. The girls worked hard to make it a success. Many service projects were undertaken by the members, such as making favors for the elderly at Crescent Place. Parties were held to add to the fun of the busy year.

Staff captures school memories

The Ellwoodian Staff, along with their advisor, Miss Dorothy Wimer, produced a memorable yearbook that reflected pleasant moments of the past year.

Students on the staff must have the training offered in Publications I. During the second semester of their Junior year, students prepared for the publication of the yearbook by learning techniques in areas of layout, copy, and production of a yearbook. Throughout their Senior year, students practiced the skills they learned in the previous year of the production of the yearbook.

Mary Jannet Seidel and Carole Bowers served as editors of the book. All members of the staff worked diligently and cooperated with one another as the sections of the yearbook pieced together.

There's a club for bowlers,
PEA for girls.
There's even a club for chess players
I know around the world

These things that Lincoln offers
Help make the moment bright
And break all of the monotony
Of boredom's lifeless flight.

Wolverine gridgers produce best record since '70

Even though the Wolverines did not participate in the W.P.I.A.L. playoffs, the team accomplished something far better than a section title. Because they worked together, had determination, and team spirit, they brought back to Lincoln the feelings of spirit and pride. While the defense remained tough, the offense improved with each game. Leading the Wolverines were three players who were named to the MAC AA First Team. They were Joe Campbell, offensive and defensive tackle; Mike Roth, punter; and Marty Sherna, halfback.

In the section opener against New Brighton, Marty Sherna sparked the Wolverines with a 80-yard punt return for the first Ellwood touchdown. However, the offense could not generate another score, ending up in a 7-7 tie.

During the following section games, the Wolverines lost three hard fought battles; 12-0 to powerful Beaver Falls; 25-8 at the hands of Beaver; and a close 14-8 to Farrell.

In the first win in two years, the Wolverines trounced Beaver Local, 28-7. Sherna ran for 76 yards and Barbati crossed the goal line twice to lead the scoring.

On a muddy Freedom field, the Wolverines saw a 6-0 halftime lead turn to a 16-6 defeat. Their only score came on a Sherna 72-yard punt return.

The following week, Ellwood had the greatest comeback ever, as Sherna scored four times to lead the Wolverines over Sharon, 29-28. Although they were down 20-0 at halftime, they could not be stopped during the second half. Bob Timmerman set up the winning score by blocking a Sharon punt; while Barbati passed for three touchdowns and two conversions.

The Wolverines got by Rochester 14-6, as Barbati completed two passes to Sherna for touchdowns.

The Ellwood gridgers ended the season, losing to Center 21-6. Barbati put the Wolverines ahead in the second quarter with a one-yard run. This was the first rushing touchdown in section play.

The Wolverines ended the season 4-6-1, 2-5-1 in section play, which matched 1970's mark and bettered any record since then.

Jr. High prepares for varsity play

The little Wolverines ended their season with a record of 2-3. Their season opener was one to remember when Ellwood shut out Freedom 18-0. In this game, Dave Ioannelli threw two touchdown passes to Mike Hufnagel on the option play. To round up the scoring, Dave Ioannelli scored on a pass from Jim Sacco. The Wolverines went on to lose the next three games to Beaver Falls 34-8, New Brighton, 26-14; and Center, 13-6. Returning the next week, Ellwood ended their season defeating Beaver 6-0. The lone score of the game came in the first quarter on a three-yard run by Dave Ioannelli. The team is coached by Mr. Zagorski and Mr. Immerman.

Harrier runners improve to 4-7

Under the leadership of Coach James Irwin the Cross-Country team finished an improved 4-7. With the fact that only two lettermen, Mike Carroll and Ken Moskal, returned Ellwood needed more runners. New Basketball Coach Joe Acotto required all basketball players not participating in another sport to join the team. The combined effect produced a successful season. Carroll was the top runner followed by Moskal, Dave Houghton, Jim Vaughn, Gene Lombardi and Dean Chappelle. The team participated in the Beaver Falls Invitational and finished a fine fifth out of twelve teams. Hopefully, next year's upcoming freshmen and sophomores will join the team and put together a winning season.

Linkers finish a tough second

With the return of 6 lettermen, the Lincoln golfers completed the year with an impressive season record of 6-2. Throughout their matches the team improved, exhibiting good form and gaining experience. Leading the golfers was Junior letterman Steve Kardish. Other top golfers were John Maielli, Jerry Ferrucci, Lou Friello and Jim Gallagher. The teams toughest competition came from the Riverside golfers, who defeated Ellwood twice. In their second match against Riverside, the two teams were tied during the first seven holes. Although the Ellwood golfers played excellently, they came up short losing to Riverside for the second time. Since the entire team will be returning, the Ellwood golfers will be looking forward to another fine season, and maybe a W.P.E.A. championship.

Tough section edges Ellwood

The Lincoln gunners who scored a 10-4 sectional record, ended second in their section, tied with Slippery Rock. A shoot-off for a wild card was lost to Slippery Rock by a score of 959 to 998. The team was led by Bruce Lance, a senior letterman, followed by Chris McCowin, George Schuller, Ken Kalac, and Mark Schweinsberg. Coached by Mr. Minter, the Lincoln gunners were ranked as one of the tough competition teams in Section 3, along with Slippery Rock, Fox Chapel, and North Allegheny. With the return of John Minter, George Schuller, Joe Rasmann, Dave Hazen, and Stephanie Cuzzo, the team's future looks like a bright one.

Seventh and eighth grade teams build for future

The 1978-79 seventh grade basketball team proved to their opponents that they are a superior team by capturing the section title, with a record of 9-1. Coach Chioffi showed much enthusiasm during the season for his young team. Focusing on the fundamentals, they gained the experience needed to participate in their first year of interscholastic sports. The Wolverines' toughest competition came from Northwestern, when they lost 52-40. This was their only loss of the year. Leading the team were John Beachem, Dave Fee, John Hufnagel and Al Parente. With a section title behind them, they will be able to develop the potential required for a successful varsity club. Building for the future, is what Bill Gottuso, eighth grade coach accomplished this year. Although his team went only 2-8 in section play, they showed much talent for future years. The team's only two wins came when they beat Ben Franklin 37-33. Billy Perry led his team in the game with 18 points.

Pat DeCaro added 10. Billy Perry once again paced his team with 14 points for their second victory over George Washington 39-35; Rich Grymes added 12. This year's eighth grade team showed shooting and defense ability. Their improvement throughout the year brightens the future of Ellwood basketball. With the enthusiasm of the boys and the guidance of Coaches Gottuso and Chiolfi, the seventh and eighth grade basketball teams have a bright future ahead of them.

Freshman team keeps hustling

The ninth grade basketball team ended the 1978-79 season with a record 4-15. Coach Anthony Pietrecollo felt that their disappointing record did not reflect the team's actual ability. He believed his team members will assist next year's Junior Varsity Squad. Even though the losses reigned over the wins, they still played some rewarding games. The win over Farrell had Dave Ionelli leading scorer with nine points and Tony Carusone, eight points. When the team traveled to Washington, they once again brought back to Lincoln, a victory. Bob Gibbons, Tony Carusone, and Dave Ionelli led the team in scoring for the season.

Underclassmen gain experience

Coached by Jeff Meehan, the J.V. squad completed the season with a section record of 10-11. Leading the team were five junior lettermen. Chuck Crawley was the top scorer, averaging 12.5 a game. He also led in field goals, foul shots, and rebounds. Other leaders were Rick Roth, who was the best shooter, and Rich Fee, who shot the best from the foul line. The remaining juniors were Kris Morella, who saw much varsity action; and Tom Pietrullo, who had the most personal fouls. As a team, the Wolverines outscored their opponents 1029-939. Because of their scoring and rebounding ability, the 11 Wood J.V.s are sure to add a spark to next year's Varsity.

Wolverine hopes for a section title shattered

Words like power-jumps, pulse workouts and line drills are all too familiar to the members of the boys basketball team. With the appointment of Joe Acotto as head coach, and Jeff Meehan, as assistant, the Wolverines dropped to Section AA and a very tough schedule. The words "dedication" and "hard workers" describe the six Wolverine seniors who held the team together throughout the season. They were Joe Barbati, Rob Ferrucci, Roger Martin, Joe Pansera, Randy Tammara and Ross Yoho. Also seeing much varsity action were Chuck Crawley, Rich Fee, Kris Morella, and Rick Roth, who were all junior lettermen. Leading the scoring was Martin with 294 points, shooting 41% for the year. He led in all categories except rebounds, which was led by Tammara, with 167; and personal fouls by Yoho, with 71. Despite their 0-14 section record, the Wolverines won two non-league games, defeating Pittsburgh South, 55-52 and Rochester, 58-51. Using a variety of plays on both defense and offense, the Wolverines could not find the right combination to defeat their opponents. Although they lost 65-54, the Wolverines' best game was against their long time rival, Riverside. This was the first sellout crowd for an Ellwood basketball game in seven years. They keyed on Brad

Brown and Mark Garvin, in a man-to-man defense, but Jim Vetica foiled the strategy, hitting six of eleven. Although Tammara did not start because of the flu, he led the Ellwood squad with 12 points and eight rebounds. The Wolverines showed a lot of pride, and kept hustling until the very end. "I thought we'd do a lot better," said Acotto of the dismal Wolverine season. "Our shooting fell off in games compared to scrimmages. We'll beat a lot of teams next year. This year's varsity club did not have a winning season, but every time they were on the court, they gave 100%."

Girls look for upcoming season

With the appointment of Miss Sheryl Smith, as head coach, and Mrs. Ellen Taylor as assistant, the girl's basketball team opened a new season participating in Section AA. This year the Wolverettes finished a disappointing year with a record of 0-12. Although section play did not bring them a win, the girls did come up with one victory. The Wolverettes single victory came about when they defeated Villa Maria 57-30. Since they had the return of only two lettermen, senior captains, Rose Parente and Andrea Magnifico, this year was a year of building, strengthening, and gaining experience, for a very young team. Next season with the help of 5 returning lettermen, the Wolverettes' season is sure to be one of success.

Girls improve during season

Under the leadership of senior co-captains Tobie Holsinger and Joni Gurgacz and Coach Mark Tomei, the girls finished their season with a record of 4-5. The girls exhibited considerable improvement throughout their meets, producing a total of five lettermen. Highlighting the season was the advancement of Pam Lucarelli and Tobie Holsinger to the state qualifiers held at Montour. Pam qualified for the finals where she placed third. She then advanced to the state meet at Shippenburg, where she placed sixth with a score of 16.85. Pam was the first Lincoln gymnast to compete on the state level.

Grapplers gain good experience

The Ellwood City Wrestling Team ended the season 2-11 under new Coach Mike Garrison. Assisting Garrison was former wrestler Rick Venczie. Despite the returning of only two lettermen — Dennis Houk and Brian Markle — the grapplers still managed to beat Sewickley Academy twice. This year the team suffered considerably because few people went out for the team. The Wolverines lacked light weight wrestlers, preferably 98 and 105 pound weight classes. Next season, hopefully, the students at Lincoln will get interested and participate as this will help create competition among the wrestlers and make the team stronger.

Setting records creates attitude

Although the year was full of disappointments, the boy's track team broke many records. In the field events Mike Sera set records in the shot and discus. Other lettermen in the field were Brad Kent, Warren Sullivan, Jeff Hazen, Mark Sutch and Rick Venezie. In the running events Joe DeLisio led his team by setting records in the 220 and 100 yard dash. Ken Peffer led the distance men with the help of Dave Houghton in the mile and 2 mile. Others lettering in running were Tim Mondell, Joe Barhati, Jim Mauch, Scott Mullin, and Joe Sulia. The team may have pulled off only one win over Farrell but they showed much improvement throughout the season.

Enthusiasm sparks kindling point

Even though the girls lost their first meet to Larrell, they came back to produce a winning season of 4-3-1. Because of their enthusiasm and dedication, the girls shone over Riverside, Seneca Valley, Beaver, and New Brighton. This year the team was led by four-year lettermen Coral Newton, Megan Magee, and Mary Bellissimo; three-year lettermen Andrea Magnifico; two-year lettermen Cindy Crepp, Druce Silvestri, Pam Agostinelli, Mary Costa, Patty Silvestri, Eileen Stovanoff, Pam Wrona, Barb Pope, Cindy D'Ambrosio; and also by thirteen first year lettermen. Coral Newton advanced to the state track meet for her fourth consecutive year, competing in the long and triple jumps. Coral placed fifth in triple jump, setting a new record of 37'¼". Also leading the girls was Cindy Crepp in the shot and discus, where she had several record-breaking throws.

Lincoln High's batmen capture Section II title

Beating New Castle 4-3, Blackhawk 5-1, and Butler 5-3, the boys were able to clinch the Section II title. With dedication, hardwork, and team spirit, they obtained a winning season record of 16-13.

The team then advanced to the WPIAL playoffs, where they were matched against the Union Scotties. On Thursday, June 1, the team and three busloads of students traveled to Flaherty field. Ellwood soon took a 3-0 lead in the second inning, but because of an unearned run in the fifth, the Scotties tied the score. In the bottom of the sixth, the Scotties bounced a hit between short and third to make the score 5-3. During the top of the seventh there was still some light left for the Wolverines, but because of a force play, a fly-out, and a throw to first for the third out, the Wolverine light was soon blown out. So the game ended Union 5, Ellwood 3, with only a section title to contend with. Senior John Hemphill led the pitching staff with a record of 8-5. He was on top in all categories with 92 strike-outs. Sophomore Ray Johns produced a record of 7-3, where he was second in all divisions. Junior Frank DeCaria, with a record of 2-1, also saw much action. Leading the team with a batting average of .333, Tony Morini also led in the most hits, with 29; doubles, with 6, and tied for the league triples title with 3. Following right behind Tony was Marty Sherna, who tied with him for the league triples title. Marty also was on top with 18 stolen bases, 3 homeruns, and 93 at bats. Others leading the batmen were Anthony Palagallo with 3 homeruns, 4 doubles, and 11 stolen bases; and John Hemphill with 2 homeruns, and 21 RBI's.

Although it was Mr. Sharek's first year of coaching, he produced hustle, team spirit, school pride, and a Section II title.

Experience adds driving force

Rackets swinging, and tennis balls flying across the net were the scenes at the Ewing Park tennis courts as the team completed its season with a record of 1-8. This year the young, but experienced team produced ten lettermen. The three-year lettermen were Jeff Pulhsky, Tom LaRitz, and Ken Moskal, two-year lettermen were Bryan Hoffman, Sam Steri and Ross Yoho; and the first-year lettermen were Allan Rossman, Lou Noern, John McElwain, and Ted Borter. With only two seniors, the experienced underclassmen helped to produce the team's drive, and with determination as a driving force, the Lincoln netters are guaranteed success in the seasons to follow.

John Hemphill represents baseball
 He pitches a fast ball,
 And when he stands upon the mound
 He gives the team his all.

When Steve Kardish is on the green,
 There's sure to be a par,
 And if his swing is good enough,
 He can win the game.

Jeff Foholsky has the winning
 With racket in his hand,
 And when he is upon the court,
 He always takes his stand.

A mile or two Mike Carroll goes,
 Across the country track,
 And though he may be tiring,
 He's sure to be right back.

Administration sets guidelines

The Ellwood City Area School Board officials face a wide range of public affairs along with the responsibility and concern for the students and faculty of the Ellwood City Area.

The responsibility of Superintendent of Schools is in the capable hands of Dr. John DeCaro.

This one man, along with the help of the other members of the School Board works diligently to support the educational process here at Lincoln High School despite the always changing world outside. The Board is also determined to create a curriculum that will improve adult education as well as student education and welfare.

Our principals are our friends

Most of our school activities evolve around three important and respected men: Mr. Magnifico, head principal, and Mr. Reese and Mr. Spellman, assistant principals.

These men help to keep law and order enforced in the halls of Lincoln by patrolling the school building. If a student is punished, he realizes it is often for his own good.

Without the aid of our principals, who would be in charge of school activities? The principals working together as a team are the men who search for talent and hire others to entertain our student body during assemblies.

Our principals in Lincoln High School truly want to be our friends.

William Spellman

George Reese

Secretaries add final touches

The office secretaries of Lincoln High take on a major role in school's daily activities and needs. Writing late slips, excuses, early dismissals, and answering the phones are just a few of the odd jobs they do every day. Along with student needs, the principals help keep these secretaries on their toes by giving them various jobs such as filing and typing. The secretaries are sometimes able to get away from their daily job by selling someone a ticket for the upcoming sporting event.

The secretaries are also responsible for gathering the morning absentee sheets, sorting them, and co-ordinating the absent student with his homework.

Counselors aid student needs

Lincoln's dependable guidance counselors along with Mr. Alfred Bish, school psychologist, face the enormous responsibility of guiding and directing our students so that they may create a place for themselves in the world around us.

Miss Baringer and Mr. Hairhoger, junior high counselors, aid students by preparing them for the responsibilities they will face in Senior High.

Mr. Jinar and Mr. Santillo, senior high guidance counselors, help prepare students for their graduation and help to set up the preliminary steps which will help them to choose a college and career. Also, they are responsible for the various scheduling of tests which students may take.

Mr. Bish, Director of pupil personnel services, talks to students about psychological problems facing them in their every day lives.

Our guidance counselors work very hard to aid our students in whatever they may need help.

Medical staff always on duty

"The people who make the hurt stop hurting" best describes Lincoln's medical staff. The nurses deal with student discomforts with patience and efficiency. Simple headaches and stomach aches are treated along with more severe cuts, sprains and bruises. Eye and hearing tests are also arranged for students during the year. Athletic physicals are given to assure students that they are fit to participate in their sport. The health room staff remains willing to aid in any way they can.

Learning Center helps students

For students at Lincoln, the Instructional Materials Center offers research material, newspapers and microfilms as well as novels. Mr. Panico heads the direction of these materials with Mrs. Polovina and Mrs. Gottuso aiding him. These people spend many hours re-shelving books, taking inventory and helping students with problems they encounter.

Obtaining information for research papers and reports presents no problem as the library carries approximately 18,000 books and seven newspapers. Both the college and non-college bound student can obtain useful information. So whether you need information or just like to read, the IMC represents a learning center for all students interested in adding to their knowledge.

Sentence serves as unique base

English courses at Lincoln combine literature, writing, and grammar to help broaden knowledge of the language. Students improve their usage and understanding both verbally and nonverbally. Teachers stress learning to recognize correctly structured sentences and develop them into a well-developed paragraph. College Preparatory classes not only study the basic principles of English but also write themes, speeches and research papers preparing them for future college work. Speech classes provide students with the opportunity to express themselves on many varied subjects with a viewing audience. Remedial reading courses enable students in seventh through tenth grades to improve their reading ability. Teachers enable their classes to broaden their horizons, clarify their values and learn how to learn.

Study based on new philosophy

The new philosophy of the Social Studies Department is based on the concept that man must have a close interrelationship with his world. Social Studies should, and does, provide the necessary tools to analyze the past, evaluate the present, and use these results to deal with untold future events. This is achieved by using both audio and visual material to make a more interesting classroom

On November 1, an assembly pertaining to the election took place in the Lincoln High School auditorium. Local and state representatives appeared and gave their views on the different issues. Also, selected students represented the candidates who could not be present

Mathematics encourages students to think, discover, experiment, and communicate to their fullest potential, and to solve various problems in daily living. Mathematics is an exact and essential science which helps students develop skills in solving basic fundamentals with reasonable speed and accuracy.

Lincoln High's Mathematics curriculum offers various courses to suit each student's needs. There is an accelerated course for students who want a challenging program, or a general program for those who would rather have just a general knowledge of math for operations in daily living.

The math department intends to provide opportunities to acquire knowledge necessary for success in a student's chosen field.

Teachers find better methods

The Science Department believes everyone needs a basic understanding of the matter-energy system, of which everyone is a part. An approach to problem-solving is also needed. The courses of the science curriculum aim to meet both of these needs.

Many interesting activities challenged Lincoln students to obtain a scientific background which is needed very often. Although frogs were not on the agenda this year, earthworms, along with crayfish were. Many students recognized the fact that learning could be both fun and educational. Science helps the student become aware and benefit from the physical properties of the growing world around him.

Language, key to communication

Language is a valuable tool to peace. It is a form of communication among the nations of the world

At Lincoln, our curriculum offers foreign languages to all students interested in learning the language of foreign countries. Spanish, German, French, and Latin are the courses offered to any interested students who wish to enrich their background about their original heritage. In each course, students learn to speak the native language, write words and work with numerals, and also encounter affairs of daily life.

Language, no matter what its origin, is clearly a key to the heart of other peoples, customs, and cultures.

Individualism shines through

Students often harbor hidden talents which sometimes never may be known. The Fine Arts Department of Lincoln High School wishes to give each student a chance to display these talents. Choir, Band, and Art are the courses which enable a student to perform to his or her potential. Music is said to be the international word and with the many talented choirs we have at Lincoln, the saying seems to be true. A beautiful hand thrown vase or delicately decorated jewelry created in the Art Room often enhances the beauty and grace of a room or someone special. And what is a parade or football game without a band? Nothing

Gym Class helps develop skills

Nothing is as beautiful as human movement and development. Physical Education helps to build the body and strengthen muscles which everyone needs to help keep them looking in top shape. There are numerous areas of physical activities which concentrate on the basic skills, not only to develop effective and efficient human movement, but also to develop the student's social, emotional, and intellectual well-being. Physical education is an education which promotes physical fitness through instruction and participation in the gym classes to develop speed, accuracy, agility, endurance, and fundamental motor skills.

The varied program provides an atmosphere of fun and satisfaction for all students.

Industrial arts broaden visions

In our society, one must be able to communicate in the language of industry, technology, and science. Thus, he must be able to read diagrams and make sketches as a first step in understanding an industrial society.

The industrial arts department provides learning activities in which students gain both skill and knowledge. With an industrial arts education, the student acquires special abilities through research and learning experiences. Industrial arts involves problem-solving through creative thinking and applying principles of planning and design.

Industrial arts provides construction, production, and planning activities which enable students to develop skill in the safe use of tools and machines.

Many activities fill past year

The major purpose of the Lincoln High Business Department is to educate those who expect to seek employment following graduation in accounting or secretarial endeavors.

Students enjoyed a field trip where they visited the Babcock and Wilcox main and accounting offices. Many used some of the small computers and machines available.

Also, they traveled to Robert Morris College. Students toured the many different facilities and learned about the many aspects of achieving a business-oriented education.

A tea, held in the typing room, gave students a chance to learn more about how the Bell System works. Refreshments, served by students in the business classes, satisfied all.

Workers provide nourishing food

As a result of Lincoln's students working with cafeteria officials and the administration, a new management service that insures a more efficient program came about.

The four food groups provide the basis for the nourishing meals the staff offers every day. Preparations begin a long time before anyone else is in the building and continue all morning long. Providing meals that are tasty and nourishing yet inexpensive is a hard job the staff performs well.

Staff maintains school building

Few people understand just how hard it is to maintain a building used by 1600 students and faculty members daily. Much of the work performed is done after school hours when no one can see the effort that goes into keeping the school clean. Some of the duties assigned to the staff include general maintenance of the building, fixing and replacing worn out equipment, sweeping halls and corridors, keeping desks, lockers and blackboards washed and cleaning up after students in the cafeteria. You may not realize it, but the normal function of Lincoln High School depends on the hard work and dependability of the custodial staff.

Freshmen share new experiences

The freshman year was a whole new experience for the students. This year they had for the first time, the opportunity to take part in many school activities. They participated in Computer, Y-teens, Jr. High sports of all kinds, Photo Club and the different language clubs to name a few. They begin to feel a needed part of the whole high school system. They also begin to realize the great importance of forming good study habits. Freshmen began to have a stronger feeling of togetherness as a class as they worked together on many of the school's projects and activities.

To the Freshmen:

As the class of 1982, you leave behind your junior high school years to enter the new atmosphere of senior high. Ahead lie three years of growth and maturity. So, Freshmen students walk away from your junior high years with your fondest memories and look to the future as sophomores of Lincoln High School.

Sincerely,

The sophomore class set new records this year under their class officers: President, Gennaro DiBello; Vice President, Patti Marshall; Secretary, Maria Pellicano, and Treasurer, Mary Kindle.

Because of the outstanding efforts of the class, this year's Sophomore Class set a landmark in the history of previous sophomore candy sales when they exceeded their super goal of $5,000 with a total in sales of $5,657. Top salesperson Jodi De Sanzo contributed $151 in sales to the class, and homeroom 302 led in homeroom sales. Members of the class sold chocolate bars for 50¢ a bar. The money raised from the project will be used for a well-earned class party at the conclusion of the school year.

To the Sophomores:

The time approaches for the sophomores to move into their busy junior year at Lincoln. As the new junior class, you will face challenges as a year of responsibilities falls into your hands. The outcome of your junior class candy sale will determine how successful the 1980 junior senior prom will be. During the winter months, you will receive your class ring, a high school memory you will always have. Your responsibilities as a class will hit its peak as preparations for the prom begin. Although the fear of not finishing may set in, you must keep the spirit of accomplishment burning until completion. But most of all, you will reach maturity as you endeavor to obtain new heights as the class of 1981. So venture forth from the footprints of your past and walk a new trail of success.

Sincerely,

The Class of 1979

J-u-n-i-o-r-s get it together

Under the direction of Jim Mauchi, and the supervision of Mr. Russell Whisler, the Junior Class rose to new heights in everything they attempted. Their candy sale was a big success. The top salesmen Tom Hufnagel and Michelle Mikosz went over their quota by selling more than $400. This money went to produce Disneyland, the Junior-Senior Prom. They drew and constructed all of the props necessary to make the Prom a hit. Another highlight of their year was the distribution of their class rings. These activities are an important part of being a junior at Lincoln High but much more can be expected as Seniors of 1980.

Seniors' spirit proves success

The Senior Class of 1979 not only displayed class spirit by selling $21,143.05 worth of magazines but they also proved that 224 seniors can work together. Under the inspiration of Miss Marino and Miss Ottobre, the class became determined to achieve any goal that faced them. Class officers led their fellow seniors through the year to make it a success. This year the class had a new student to make the last year a special one. Grace Van der Goot, AFS Student from Holland, added a special sparkle to the senior class. As we leave Lincoln, we know that someday the class of '79 will meet again.

Sparkling color brightens faces

With shiny, bright, and sparkling cheer
Cue cards were let around
Each girl was serious and excited
As she made her way in the ground

All dressed in beauty with great big smiles
Each looked like a queen
The escorts in white and red
It was a happy scene

Then the band started to play
The crowd was soon in a mood
She smiled for ever it was her hour
The speaker just pronounced

With roses she was led to the chair
And the crown placed on her head
And everyone sang and kissed
For a new queen stood ahead

A dark, lonely figure stands alone.
His hands outstretched in the air.
At the moment, he is on his own.
No one seems to care.

He thinks about happier years.
In friendship, they united as one.
Remembered by him, he sheds a tear.
Fondest memories of what they had done.
Flood back as he returns
To that perfect chord of harmony.
The passion of friendship brightly burns.
He is touched by their once-felt intimacy.

Suddenly, the vision fades before his eyes.
He lifts a single hand,
Shifts his gaze to the limitless skies,
Whispers, "I will try to understand."
For fate has stolen his closest friend.
Just in form, not the reminiscing in his mind.
His harbored feelings never end
But continue to flourish with time.

He drops his hand; a sigh of relief
Escapes as a smile replaces the frown.
His friend would not want him to grieve,
Would not want him to feel down.

OVERSEAS

Remember all the things we shared
 The love and laughter we had
 Remember all the times we were
 Together and happy and free
 Remember all the days we spent
 In each other's arms
 Remember all the love we gave
 And all the joy we found
 Remember all the dreams we had
 And all the hopes we shared
 Remember all the times we were
 Together and happy and free
 Remember all the days we spent
 In each other's arms
 Remember all the love we gave
 And all the joy we found
 Remember all the dreams we had
 And all the hopes we shared
 Remember all the times we were
 Together and happy and free
 Remember all the days we spent
 In each other's arms
 Remember all the love we gave
 And all the joy we found
 Remember all the dreams we had
 And all the hopes we shared

Robin,
to a really sweet girl I met along time ago. Never forget that crazy Bio class of ours. Never forget how Boy always talked about Dennis and you always talked about Rosy! Never forget me because I'll never forget you!

Robin,

To a REALLY cute and GREAT girl that was a FRIEND of mine and that I hope will always be a FRIEND. I hope I will see you this summer. I know that you will go FAR in the world if you be YOURSELF and not someone else.

ALL my Luck,
CHRIS "79"

Robin,

to a really sweet nice, cute, person I met a long time ago. I remember all the good times we had and the fun in Biology, and in World Cultures. Remember me coz I'll never forget you.

Robin,

To a really cute girl I met at Walnut Ridge. Remember all the times there. Also remember that you have the same date that I have for birthdays, July 6. That had to be a great day.

Love,
John

Robin,

To a really sweet, nice, cute girl I got to know better this year. Remember all the fun we had we for everybody. Remember English class and some of those boring books we read! Never forget that Sad we laid out! I sure hope we get to go to Texas! That would be a total blast. Well just never forget the good times and me
